Key: SAB's Success

For the first time ever, the SAB Executive Board consisted of four women and one man. Despite what some saw as a lopsidedness, the student activity board successfully ran the events of the year.

A wide range of activities were held, including: a weekend camping trip, folk singers, and Irish night, two Polka parties, the annual outdoor concert, and a successful Homecoming and Winter Weekend.

This year's board also became more active in controlling the budgets of campus clubs and organizations.

Eagle reborn after three year absence

After a three year absence, the IBC yearbook was reborn. As its theme indicates, it is a time for celebration.

The first attempts to start the book failed in September of 1974 but by that spring, co-editors Maryellen Lissak and Bill Lisowski, both then freshmen, had the plans ironed out and the Eagle was on its way.

One of the major problems of restarting the book was in setting up dark-room facilities but this was accomplished over the summer. Photo editor Bijie Munninger took care of this.

Despite a lot of problems, a small dedicated group of workers got the book out.

Circle K is a service organization that was started at IBC in 1971. At that time it had a membership of 10. Now that membership is well over 30 and the club has become one of the most active organizations in the state.

Among the things Circle K accomplished this year were: raising $4300 in conjunction with the Lisle Kiwanis Club by selling peanuts, raising $70 with a car wash and building a sandbox for the Century Hill School for the Mentally Retarded.

This year's officers were: president Greg Pesavento, vice-president Bill Antoskiewicz, treasurer Paul Birch, and secretary Teri Michalowski.

Students become Stroh's Stars

The Stroh's superstar competition was a new promotion for the beer company and IBC was one of the first campuses to experience it. Over 160 IBC students took part in the Feb. 12, contest.

Basically, the contest involved doing such things as tossing five frisbees through a hoop, blowing a bubble from gum, skipping rope 25 times, swirling a hula-hoop 25 times, and hitting a paddleball 25 times.

Freshman Scott O'Connor won the first prize, a Schwinn 10 speed bike.

The soccer club, playing without any real financial backing, finished its best season ever with a 5 win, 7 loss record. Senior Don Davis led the club this year and said that the team was better organized than in past years.

Besides money, another problem facing the team was shortage of players. Most teams they faced had 30 or more players. IBC only had 15. Despite these problems, the team had a good season.

An Inter-Hall government was established this year to better serve the educational and recreational needs of the residents. A surprisingly large voter turnout, 55%, helped vote in the officers of the executive board — president Pat O'Donnell, vice-president Tim Dubiel, secretary Ron Franks, and treasurer Bill Hancock.

Besides the recreational activities, the IHC also tried to set up extra-educational events like learning how to balance a checkbook, etc. . . The IHC also established a recreational center in the basement of Jaeger Hall for campus wide use and a resident judicial board.

Eagle defenders move in for the kill.

Quarterback Bill Callahan studies the defense before receiving the snap.

Head Coach Marvin Carlson experienced both the sorrow and the joy of coaching college football as his first collegiate team, the Eagles, ended the season with a 6 win, 4 loss record.

The sorrow was a disgusting four game losing streak while the joy was turning everything around and winning the last five games in a row.

The season started with a thrilling come-from-behind victory over traditional opening day opponent Lakeland College. Then the skid started as Coach Carlson tried to find a quarterback from among three contenders. He finally hit on sophomore Bill Callahan and things began to happen.

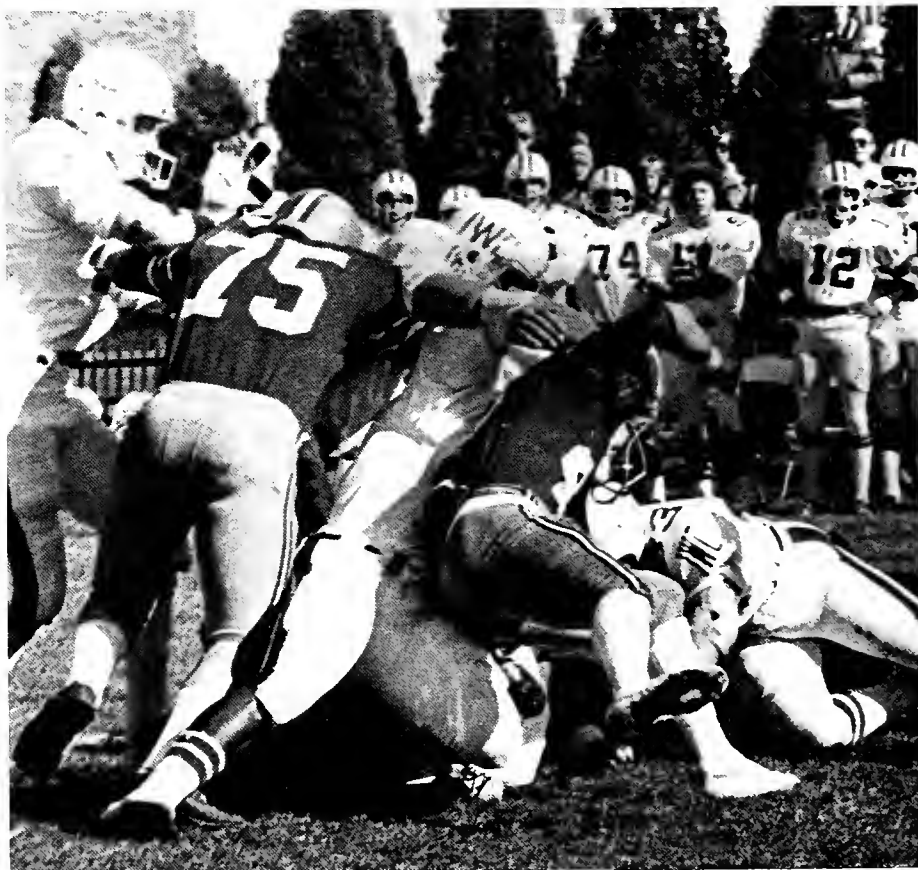

Callahan and the rest of the team put everything together for IBC's Homecoming game against Eureka and clobbered them 54-24. After that, the Eagles were off.

The Eagles easily beat two of their last four opponents, but for the other two, it was an uphill battle all the way. Both were away against tough teams. IBC slid past Culver-Stockton 15-14 and squeaked past Northeastern with a field goal with no time left on the clock 24-23.

Senior halfback Ken Carruthers broke Mark Kellar's Illinois Career Rushing record. His 3804 yards easily put him past Kellar's 3745.

IBC ends most successful season

One of the most successful seasons for the basketball team came to a close. A team that wasn't expected to go very far, the Eagles surprised everyone in their conference with an 11-1 season and a 20-7 finish overall. This was the winningest team ever and had the sixth best winning percentage in 49 years of varsity play.

Even though the Eagles didn't advance far into the playoffs, they experienced many highlights: an 11 game midseason win streak, Coach Tony LaScala's 100th career victory (against North Central), and winning the inaugural Consortium Christmas Tourney.

They also won the conference with a come-from-behind victory against Rockford College on the road, and saw Coach LaScala named District Coach-of-the-Year.

Eagles win first NIIC title ever

Hustle, as shown here, was a big reason for the team's success.

Why did the team do so well when so many thought it couldn't? One reason was the tough schedule played early in the season. IBC played many big powerhouse teams (like Illinois Wesleyan, Carthage and St. Joseph's) and it taught the team that they could perform against the tougher opponents.

The starting five this year had only two regulars from last year, a big reason the Eagles were winners. The new players brought something that had been missing from last year's 12-14 season — quickness. Coach LaScala had three quick guards missing last year.

Xavier beats Eagles in playoffs

John Gianotti tries to block Cougar vision.

Carl Sabo adds two more against St. Xavier.

Juniors Gary Woods and Ray Jendra, both out with injuries in 1974-75, and new-comer Ed Dickson, a freshman, were instrumental in the Eagles success.

IBC also had quickness in the forward positions. When senior Jim Olesky (leading scorer for three seasons) was injured and lost for the season's end, the Eagles bench came through. Junior Carl Sabo, a transfer student, John Gianotti, and Dave Schmecht all contributed to fill in the gap. The Eagles were also strengthened with the addition of center Paul Sidney, a freshman.

All of these things led up to IBC's first NIIC title ever and the second time in ten years the team received a post-season tournament bid. Unfortunately, IBC was eliminated in the first round by St. Xavier, losing 83-79.

Only in their fourth season, the female Eagles finished with their best record at 9-3 (9-5 overall). Highlights of the basketball season included a five game win-streak, a team scoring high against Loyola University (70 points), and a post-season tournament bid where the team lost two games in a row.

Two reasons were behind the team's success — height and conditioning. IBC had three tall starters, more than any other school, in forwards Mary Sheehan, a senior, and Marie Stablein, a sophomore, plus freshman center Annette Rhodes.

Senior goes to Nationals

Senior Tom Ekins, MVP for the last two years, led the golf team to a second place finish in the NAIA District 20 championship. He took medalist honors and thus qualified for the nationals.

Elkins won the honors in a sudden death playoff with Jim Koenig of Northeastern Illinois University. Both golfers parred the first two holes but Ekins sunk a four foot putt to birdie the par five hole and win.

For the second year running, the tennis team won the NIIC title. They also captured the NAIA District 20 title. At the NIIC, IBC swept all six singles matches as well as all three doubles. At the NAIA, IBC only lost the first doubles.

Statistic-wise, this is how the team finished starting with first singles: sophomore Mike O'Laughlin, 17-8; freshman Todd Keating, 20-5; junior Mike Fink, 16-2; junior Ben Marchlewicz, 18-1 (51-4 in three years), sophomore John Korabik, 25-0, and junior Mike Wegrzynowski, 24-1 (also 51-4 for three years).

Despite experiencing a slow start, the Eagles finished number one in its conference. After coming back from their Southern trip with a 6-12 record, the team caught fire and easily took care of their conference, at one time winning eleven in a row.

A New Start

November 13, 1973

Illinois Benedictine College has many things to "CELEBRATE" this year — its 75th year of existence in Lisle, the addition of the new gym, and the resurrection of the "EAGLE". These are three, but there are many more things worth celebrating. Seventy-five years is a long time to be in one place. And to help record the steady and stable growth of Illinois Benedictine College, the yearbook has been reborn after a three year absence.

As is shown in the editorial to the right, there wasn't always a yearbook. It died in 1973 because of a lack of interest. Three years of work and growth missed. Three years of success and failure missed. The book is back and we hope that we covered and recorded as many of these events as we could.

Little known to most people, the 1976 version of the "EAGLE" almost died too, but it was rescued on the operating table. In September a group of 25 enthusiastic but greatly inexperienced students gathered together to try and put the book back on its feet. Both co-editors hadn't worked on a book before either. As time went on and the inexperience started to show through, the group waned — considerably. It diminished to a point to where there were only three active workers.

It was hard work but we got the book out. What happened to the others? Some unfortunately were struck with a series of illnesses which forced them to miss a lot of school. Others lost interest. Others, we still don't know. But for whatever reason, a few green people struggled to pick up the pieces for the others.

There is a reason for telling this — to explain why many pictures are missing from this book. Because of bad planning, film ruined because of inexperienced photographers, and lack of people, we missed many things. We were forced to work with what we had.

We're sorry it happened but there was nothing we could have done differently. Instead of looking for what is missing or any other faults, look at the 1976 "EAGLE" as a stepping stone for future books. Everything needs a base to build from, let this book be that base. For that reason, "CELEBRATE". We have a new beginning.

flux editorials

No 1973 yearbook, an irreplaceable loss

As things stand right now, there will be no yearbook for 1973-74 and there may not be another for some time to come.

The reasons for the death of the book are many and varied. When one tries to find out who is to blame, students point at the faculty, the faculty points at the students and everyone chimes in, "There is a lack of interest."

No matter who is to blame, the fact remains that the yearbook is gone. At first this may not seem to be any consequence, but when one considers what a yearbook is and does, the loss becomes truly tragic.

First of all, a yearbook is an enduring record of the people and events of a school year. It is a quick reference when a person needs to know something about another member of his particular class. Its pictures provide clear memories of important events or memorable occurrences. The names and faces of every member of each class are recorded in a yearbook along with the activities of the various clubs and organizations. The school's athletic teams are honored in the yearbook. It also serves as a place for the praise or open criticism of the accomplishments and techniques of faculty members.

Perhaps the greatest loss of all comes to the seniors. Their achievements and activities are the feature of the yearbook. Only through such a book is a school able to honor and thank every individual for their contributions. As college is probably the most memorable part of many people's lives, the yearbook is, in essence, a memory book. It allows a person a place to show himself and others "what it was like" in his senior year.

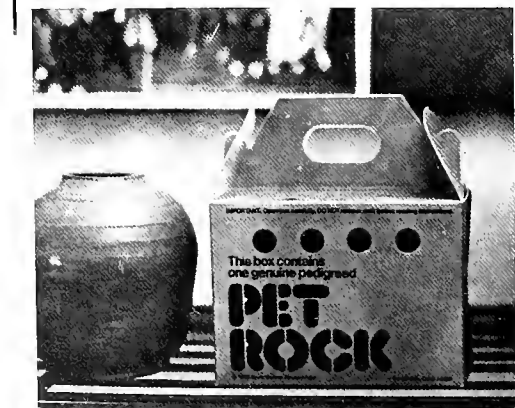

Aside from being strictly a record, a yearbook is just as important as an educational aid and a creative outlet. Credit is (or was) given for work on the yearbook. It served as a training ground for journalism students in learning layout, writing and living with the difficulties of producing a manuscript for publication. Photographers and artists are also important to a yearbook. The pages of a yearbook provide a place for artists, photographers and writers alike to display and publish their works without the hassle or bitter disappointment found frequently in commercial publications.

A yearbook also serves as good relations for a school in building the school's image. It presents a school's strengths and weaknesses. A well done yearbook is, in itself, a testimony to the talents and spirit of a school.

It is the opinion of some that the "FLUX" can fill the role of the yearbook, but the truth is that our purpose is to inform and entertain, not to be a lasting record of the people and events of a school year. The newspaper that you are holding now will probably be reduced to rubbish within a week's time. In short, we cannot take the place of the yearbook, as can nothing else. The passing of the yearbook is an irreplaceable loss.
